5X1		Germany (Soviet Zone)	25X
	TRY	Volkspolizei Dienststelle in Naumburg on the Saale River	ara.
TOPIC X1	and the second second	DIVIDITISAL DIGITAL HILL MANAGED WAS A PAST OF LANGE	West of ow s
		Control limited or the Control of	×.e = ; .
			.
		DATE DEEDADED 26 March 1952
		DATE PREPARED 20 Laren 1/32	 1
REFE	RENCES		reg - ·
PAGE	S	IENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)	· -
DEMV	DKG
KEMA)\1\\J		elas i is
		表现,我们就是有一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是一个人,我们就是	entre :
-	and many		de nt te
an dan egra sensian	man water remain meeter	《如何如果》,他们就是一个时间,我们们是我们们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们的我们们们们的我们们们们的我们们们们的我们们们们们的	1.00 officers school, was stationed in Naumburg on the Saale River. It had about 1,100 men, including 200 field grade officers and instructors, and was organized into 1 company of school cadre personnel and 8 companies of officer candidates.
			25X
•		The school was equipped with infantry weapons, including heavy mortars, of Cerman and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. *	,
5X1		man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaissa patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive	in (
X1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
X1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
X 1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
iX1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in (
5X1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
iX1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
6X1		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in s
		Man and Soviet origin. Key officers of the VPD included: VP Inspekteur Herrmann (fnu), school commandant; VP Oberrat Rost (fnu), deputy school commandant and PK chief; and VP Rat Jensen (fnu), SED secretary. Indoctrination in infantry tactics was based on modern combat doctrines. Particular subjects of theoretical instruction were the principal types of combat and the missions of a commanding officer upon receipt of his task. Subjects of practical training were also the principal types of combat, namely: attack, defense, combat in towns, combat during night and in fog, combat and reconnaises patrol duty, and combat against an enemy holding a well-prepared defensive position. * Comment. Organizational structure and missions of the VPD in Naumburg have remained unchanged even after 10 January 1952. The VP schools were apparently	in (